BoG Creates CSD for Public Debt Securities

The Bank of Ghana (BoG) has announced that, effective from 10 June 2010, the Central Securities Depository (CSD) became a wholly owned subsidiary of the BoG. The CSD, which previously operated as a department of the central bank, will continue to undertake all activities related to Government of Ghana and BoG securities. These activities include settlement and registry services in the secondary market, as well as the management of operations linked to the issue of public debt at the primary market.
